800 Children Hike to New Dolores School

More than 800 elementary school youngsters, carrying their books and supplies, opened the new Dolores Street Elementary School, 22311 Catskill Avenue, by walking from two nearby schools where they have been on half-day session since February 2.

From Carson School on the north and Catskill on the south, the children marched with their teachers to establish the 25-room, $269,000 emergency semi-permanent school less than a mile away.

With the police and fire departments standing guard at major intersections, the youngsters, some parents, and their teachers leisurely strolled the short distance
